VICTORY GOES TO THE OPERA-HOUSE COMPANY

In Suit Brought Against It by the Elks.

A VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT ORDERED

Testimony Goes To Show That the Defendant Built Its Wall on Property of the Grantor to Plaintiff with the Knowledge and Consent of the Grantor.

After both sides had rested in the trial of the suit of S. G. Kleinmaier and others, trustees of Marion Lodge, No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, against the Grand Opera-House company, shortly before noon, Monday, Judge Daniel Babst directed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the defendant on motion of the defendant's counsel, Scofield & Durfee.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Elizabeth McMahon, who formerly owned the Elks' property, was present when the south line of the opera-house wall was made, and agreed to a party wall contract. The evidence showed further that there had been no dispute at the time and that it was with the owner's consent and knowledge that the wall was built over on the ground now owned by the Elks.

Attorneys Jacoby & Donithen, Mouser & Moloney and Quigley & Johnson represented the plaintiff.

A report of the sale of the personal property in the receivership matter of Peter Gevas against Peter Gevas & Company, and others, was confirmed by Judge Babst, Monday afternoon. Receiver Ray W. Simpson sold the property, including the good will, excepting accounts and bills receivable, to San Francisco Beckley for $1,250. The property was appraised at $1,021.62.

The plaintiff having failed to file a motion for a new trial in the suit of James Harruff against Sarah and William Dutt, on motion of the defendants, judgment has been rendered on the verdict and against the plaintiffs for the costs.

In the matter of the estate of the late Elmer Burch, taken up on appeal from the probate court, Judge Babst, Friday morning in the common pleas court, overruled a motion for a new trial. This is the suit wherein J. W. Clark was removed as administrator on complaint of relatives of the deceased.

Revivors of judgment in the two suits of W. L. Raub against B. Melvin and A. S. Melvin have been granted by Judge Daniel Babst on the motion of the plaintiff. Charles Melvin, as administrator of the estate of B. Melvin, and William Little, as administrator of the estate of A. S. Melvin, are made defendants to the judgments, which are for $301.54 and $562.45, respectively, and execution is awarded against them for the costs of the proceedings.

Even Judge William E. Scofield was unable to suppress a loud smile in the common pleas court, Tuesday morning, when Attorney Homer E. Johnson, while a jury was being empanelled, asked the question of one venireman: "Are you related by kin in any way to this plaintiff?" It was a natural enough question for an attorney to ask, but circumstances alter all cases. It is said, and when the jurors already selected laughed loudly and the court showed his merriment by an outburst that he tried hard to restrain, the attorney grew a trifle red.

The plaintiff, it happens, is John Durham, a very black negro, and all the veniremen examined are white.

Durham, however, was not embarrassed in the least by the attorney's slip of the tongue. He laughed heartily, and appeared to enjoy the situation as much as the rest.

Durham seeks to recover judgment from Henry Ulsh for work and labor in the construction of a ditch in Claridon township. In his amended answer, filed just before the case went to trial Tuesday morning, the defendant admitted that he had paid the plaintiff $38.71 and stood ready to pay him $12 more in accordance with a verbal contract. Durham asks judgment in the sum of $109.

Durham is represented by Attorneys Quigley & Johnson, while Attorneys D. R. Crissinger and L. B. McNeal are counsel for the defendant.

A suit to recover on account amounting to $318.72, with interest from February 24, 1910, was begun in the common pleas court, Tuesday morning, by Frank R. Sauter, through Attorneys Scofield & Durfee, against the McClintic-Marshall Construction company, a Pennsylvania corporation.

In the partition suit of Harley F. Landes against William E. Landes and others, William E. Landes through Attorney Fred W. Warner, Tuesday, in the common pleas court, filed an answer, in which he prays that the premises described in the petition be sold and the proceeds distributed according to law.

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, desertion and intoxication, Rachel McBride was granted a decree of divorce from Melvin R. McBride by Judge W. E. Scofield, Tuesday afternoon. The plaintiff was also given the custody of their two children. The McBrides were married August 3, 1898.

DR. H. L. BONNER DIES EARLY MONDAY MORNING

Following an Illness of About Three Months.

DIABETES IS THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Dr. Bonner Comes to Marion in 1888 and Three Years Later Is Married Here—Leaves Widow and Son by a Former Marriage, Three Brothers and a Sister.

Dr. Harry L. Bonner, one of the best-known veterinary surgeons of Marion county, died at his home, No. 216 Pearl street Monday morning at 9 o'clock, after an illness of three months from diabetes and other complications. Although his death had been expected for some time, the news of his demise will come as a shock to his many friends.

On March 12, Mr. Bonner was stricken with heart trouble and for a time his condition was extremely critical. At intervals there were marked signs of improvement, but growing weak, he began steadily sinking during the past few weeks, at times being in a state of coma, until death relieved him of his suffering, Monday morning. He was sixty-nine years of age, having celebrated his birthday anniversary, March 31, 1841, the son of Joshua and Caroline Bonner. Dr. Bonner became first interested in veterinary work while assisting in the work on his father's farm. After having completed his medical course in the schools of Edinburgh, Scotland, where he graduated in 1871, he located at Chicago, Illinois, where he practiced for a time and then spent eight years in traveling over the country continually practicing and keeping in touch with his work. In this manner, he gained the training that made him a fine veterinary surgeon. In the fall of 1888 he chose Marion as his home, and shortly following this date began his career here, and soon enjoyed a wide and lucrative practice in this city.

At the time of the civil war, Dr. Bonner enlisted in Illinois with the 127th Illinois infantry and served three years, during two of which he acted as color-bearer.

Dr. Bonner was united in marriage in this city in 1891 with Miss Louise Gorenflo, a daughter of William Gorenflo. He was also previously married, and to the former union one son, Harry Bonner, was born.

The deceased was an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

Aside from the widow, and the son by his former marriage, there survive three brothers and one sister. They are George, of Salome Springs, Arkansas; Henry and Charles of Van Buren county, Michigan, and Edith L. Richards, of Coadwater, Michigan.

The funeral of Dr. H. L. Bonner was held from the late residence on Pearl street Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. G. M. Rourke and Rev. R. M. Brown officiated at the services. The remains were interred in the Marion cemetery.

Guessing is harmless exercise for a weak imagination.

THRILLING RUNAWAY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

One Occurs North of the City and Other in Marion.

MRS. G. D. ESTLACK CONFINED TO HOME

As Result of Being Thrown Out of Her Rig—Daughter Thrown Out Also, but Not Seriously Hurt—Her Husband Is Caught in Lines and Dragged—Horse Is Shot.

Mrs. G. D. Estlack is confined to her home on Girard avenue as the result of injuries sustained in being thrown from a buggy, Sunday afternoon, while Mr. Estlack and his two daughters had a narrow escape from serious injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Estlack and two daughters were driving north on the Upper Sandusky pike, about 4 o'clock, and just crossed the bridge just above the farm of Frank Coon, when J. P. Robinson, of Brush Ridge, drove up behind them in an auto. The older daughter, who was driving, turned out to give the auto room to pass. As Robinson started around the buggy, the machine skidded and struck the buggy, demolishing the two wheels on the right and side and upsetting the rig on the edge of a stone embankment.

Mrs. Estlack was thrown from the rig with the young daughter, the older daughter dropping the lines and jumping. The horse became frightened and started to run with the demolished buggy, while the thrilling experience was yet to come. Mr. Estlack became tangled in the lines and was dragged a distance of about 150 feet before the horse stopped.

Mr. Robinson brought the parties to their home, and Dr. C. T. Wiant was called to attend Mrs. Estlack, who suffered considerably. She was found to have been injured across the back and kidneys, but it is not believed her injuries are serious. Mr. Estlack escaped with a few slight bruises and scratches, while the two daughters were uninjured.

Horse Is Shot.

An exciting runaway in which Earl Lee Brewer, Howard Mapes and a companion figured, occurred on west Center street, Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

The horse, which the young men were driving to a light buggy, became frightened at a street car in front of the High school building, and when the animal started up both reins were broken off near the bit. This accident added to the horse's fright, and it ran at a terrific rate down the street to a point along the Erie railroad tracks west of the city. Here it ran alongside the tracks and was followed by Erie westbound fast express, No. 9, which was just pulling out of the city. As the horse was about to cross a bridge over the Rock Swale its front feet caught in the rails and one leg was broken. Despite this fact it ran on about one-half mile. The oncoming train was stopped rather than dash into the animal while it was on the bridge. At a point near MJ tower, the animal stopped, the owner was conferred with, and it was found necessary to shoot it.

Brewer and Mapes were thrown out of the rig before it had gone far on Center street, while the companion stayed in the rig and made futile attempts to check the animal. Neither of the young men suffered more than bruises.

The horse was a valuable one, and was the property of E. B. Brewer, of east Center street, the father of the young driver.

Waldo Is Defeated.

The Junior Diggers, of this city, defeated the Waldo team at that place, Sunday afternoon, by a score of seven to six. Waldo outbatted the locals and by putting up a superior game in the field had the game won up to the ninth when the locals bunched their hits, and this coupled with misplays, secured four runs. Ulsh and Harger did the battery work for Marion, and Windsor and Selanders for Waldo. The fielding of Cade and the batting of Camp were the features.

Lank Hinamon, foreman of the crews doing the freight trains at the local Erie ice house, was the victim of a very painful accident while at work Monday morning. While he, and some workmen were transferring ice, Hinamon slipped, and fell from the car, being quite badly bruised. He was taken to his home on west Center street, where he was given attention. He will be off duty for some time as a result of the accident.

Can Display American Spirit.

The small boys and girls and grown people of the city will not be robbed of their Fourth of July celebration in Marion, this year, as the pet ordinance of the mayor, prohibiting the sale of fireworks by dealers, was allowed to sleep peacefully on the table at the meeting of the council, Monday evening.

Many were of the opinion that the ordinance would pass the council and that as a result they would be unable to purchase any fireworks and the Fourth would be a quiet one. The ordinance was tabled after its first reading three weeks ago, and none of the councilmen seemed anxious to bring it to memory at the meeting Monday evening. In order to pass the ordinance it would be necessary to call a special meeting, and, as some merchants have a supply on hand, it is hardly likely that this will be done.

The next meeting of the council is two weeks away and should it be passed at the next meeting it could not be made legal as it must be published ten days after its first publication before it becomes effective. This proceeding would make the ordinance effective several days after Independence day, and would not rob the youth of displaying his American spirit with the firecracker.

Inspector Injured.

George Smith, of Oak street, a car inspector, was badly injured about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, by being hit on the back of the head by an iron rod while at work at the Erie round-house. He was removed to the C. E. Sawyer sanatorium in the Hess & Markert ambulance.

CONFESSES TO SLAYING WIFE

Porter Charlton Is Captured in New York

OFFICERS ARREST HIM WHEN STEAMER DOCKS

Murderer Is Subjected to the Third Degree.

Police Receive Wireless Message That Man Answering Charlton's Description Is Aboard Steamer Princess Irene, and They Take Him at Docks—Brief History of Terrible Crime in Italy

Hoboken N J June 23—Porter Charlton confessed murderer of his wife Mrs Mary Scott Castle Charlton at Lake Como Italy was arrested today as the Princess Irene of the North German Lloyd line entered her dock in this city

Ten minutes later in the police headquarters of Hoboken he was found dead of revolver in the hands of Captain Scott United States coast artillery a brother of the dead woman Captain Scott was disarmed before he had time to shoot

Charlton made a complete confession in which he admitted that he had killed his wife in a fit of temper and threw her body into the lake He completely exonerated Constantin Ilytch the Russian who was arrested on the charge of being implicated in the murder

Charlton was arraigned before Recorder McGovern in the Hoboken police court and to the clerk he said that he had no defense and wished to make none He was remanded until tomorrow morning and the state department at Washington was immediately informed of his arrest

The Princess Irene came up to her pier in Hoboken at 1:30 today Waiting on the pier were Captain Scott Lieutenant Rogers of the New York police force, Detective Sergeant Carroll and Detective Sergeant Marshal of the Hoboken police The officers hurried to the second cabin and burst into the room occupied by a man who resembled on the steamer as Jack Coleman of Omaha Nebraska He was neatly clad in a blue serge suit and wore a derby hat

Immediately Recognized

Coleman who is a slightly built youth said What do you want?

Captain Scott immediately recognized him as Porter Charlton In spite of this the man denied his identity and still declared that he was Jack Coleman of Omaha Nebraska

Coleman was rushed to police headquarters and taken to the office of the chief There he still persisted that he was Jack Coleman He was freed as was his assumed name and it so closely resembled his own signature that when confronted with it he finally confessed he was the man sought He said to the chief of police I might as well tell you all and then dictated the following statement

My name is Porter Charlton I live at 204 West Fifth street in New York City Am twenty one years old My home is in Omaha Neb I am a bank clerk by profession I lived very happily with my wife who was the best woman in the world to me but she had a most unfortunate temper and so had I We quarreled frequently and she used language to me the meaning of which I am sure he did not know On July 1 I killed her she had struck me and I told her that if I struck her I would kill her Again we quarreled and I was in a daze I struck her with a mallet with which I had been fixing a couch on which she had been lying I thought she was dead I stuffed her body in a trunk and threw the mallet in after it That night at 12 o'clock I dragged the trunk to a point near Mollasco and threw it into the lake I followed my self I left Lake Como for Cannobio where I boarded the Princess Irene four days later

Charlton signed the statement and both he and the chief of police initialed it

Later Inspector C N Ipolitoff charged with the crime He absolutely exculpates Charlton He says

I did not kill my wife I have no desire to make and I wish to make it

Charlton Cowered

I was in the office of the chief of police when Captain Scott drew the revolver Up to that time young Charlton a prepossessing looking youth dressed as a college man had been calm and collected He was telling the men about him of his married life and made a serious charge against his wife

Captain Scott nervous and wrought up sprang from his chair his hand flashed to his hip pocket and a revolver leaped into view As the big army officer towered over him the consumptive Charlton cowered in his chair and begged for mercy Detective Sergeant Weimhal leaped forward and grappled with the officer The other policemen joined in the melee and finally managed to wrest the revolver from Scott Charlton all the while remained in his chair and called to the officers to save him

Arrested on Arrival

Hoboken N J June 23—Arrested when the North German Lloyd steamer Princess Irene from Mediterranean ports docked here today Porter Charlton accused of the murder of his wife in Italy broke down after being subjected to the third degree at police headquarters and admitted that he committed the crime The police had received word by wireless that a man answering Charlton's description was on the steamer and the captain had been instructed to keep the man under surveillance until the vessel docked Headquarters detectives were on hand and Charlton was hurriedly put under arrest and taken to the office of the chief of police where the immediately admitted his identity but denied that he killed his wife

Under a fierce fire of questioning however he finally confessed

Mrs Mary Scott Castle Charlton wife of Porter Charlton was murdered in her villa at Mollrasio Italy near Como either on June 5 or June 6 She was battered over the head with a blunt instrument and her body stuffed into a trunk and thrown into Lake Como

On the following Friday the hideously decomposed trunk was drawn from the lake by some fishermen

The body was early recognized and a search of the villa that he and her husband had occupied was at once made disclosing evidences of a fierce struggle which evidently fol

AMERICA WILL CRY FOR BREAD

We Are Facing Serious Crisis, Declares Brown

SUFFICIENT FOOD IS NOT PRODUCED

He Makes Plea for Intelligent Agriculture

Says Unless We Increase Farm Products Danger Will Be from Within Our Country and Not from Without — A Danger Against Which Battleships Would Be of Little Use

St Paul Minn June 23—That the United States is facing the most serious crisis in its history was the declaration of W C Brown president of the New York Central system in a sensational address delivered today at the twenty first annual convention of the Minnesota State Business Association

Brown declared that the food consumption of the nation is rapidly exceeding the production that the gold supply is increasing so that its purchasing power is being materially reduced and that the development of the farms of the country is the most imperative problem now before the nation

If the converging lines of production and consumption in the United States continue to approach each other as they have during the last ten years he said before the middle of the decade upon which we have just entered has been reached the first vessel loaded with agricultural products of this country will have left our shores the great grain exporting elevators in our seaboard cities will stand empty and this great nation like those of the old world will be looking with anxious eyes for a place to buy the necessaries of life

When the day comes that this nation fails to produce sufficient food to supply our own people when we no longer send the product of our farms abroad bringing back the gold from foreign nations what will be the cost of living in this country and where will the money come from to meet this cost?

Explains Gold Production

President Brown discussed the fact that despite the bountiful crops grown in this country since 1898, prices of foodstuffs have steadily advanced and that this example has been followed by everything grown or manufactured while land values in the Middle West have more than doubled He stated that there is a direct relation between the international supply of gold and the high prices now prevailing inasmuch as gold being indestructible stays in the market while coal is burned and grains etc consumed

As it accumulates it takes more gold to buy a bushel of wheat a suit of clothes a pound of beefsteak a sack of flour or any of the other necessities of life he declared and for this reason the law of labor has steadily advanced and will continue to advance in some fair ratio with the increase in the cost of the things that labor must buy

President Brown then reviewed the gold discoveries explaining that before the middle of the present century the worlds annual production of gold will be a billion dollars The result must be a readjustment to changed conditions he said He cited statistics showing the exact proportion of the increase of every kind of product and then declared that in his opinion the only real remedy was to increase the productiveness of the farm lands of the country

Due to Tax Methods

Our failure to increase the productions of our farms in anything like the ratio of increase in consumption he declared is exerting more than three times the effect upon the cost of living that is being exerted by all other causes including the increase of gold Last year Argentina forged ahead of the United States and took first place among the grain exporting countries in the world in addition to shipping sixty per cent of all the meat consumed in Europe This was due to our tax method

For half a century our experts of the product of our farms has kept a steady stream of gold flowing to our shores Now when almost double the volume of money is required to transact a given amount of business as compared with ten years ago the flow of gold from this source is steadily declining and seems certain to disappear entirely

It does not require the experience of a railroad man to know that with one train—representing production—running at the rate of thirty six miles per hour followed by another train—representing consumption—running at the rate of sixty miles an hour, either the leading train must be speeded up the following train slowed down or disaster is only a question of time We are building great battleships two of them every year costing ten million dollars each and a million every ten to maintain them and I wish that the money expended in building just one of them could be devoted to improving intelligent agriculture

Most Serious Danger

Unless we can increase the product per acre of the farms of this country the most serious danger which we have now to face will be from within and not from without—a danger against which battleships would be of little use

All other dangers pale into insignificance as compared with the peril which confronts a nation no longer able to supply its people with food Necessity knows no law and hunger lack of food is man's first and most dangerous aggression A credit balance based upon the sale of our securities abroad is a foundation no more dependable than money raised upon promissory notes In the day of stress when our banks must husband their resources to the last limit a flood of these securities must be thrown here to protect millions of dollars of our securities held by the banks and trust companies as collateral for loans

It is money loaned intelligently for agricultural development that will absolutely safeguard National Independence will follow agricultural decadence is certainly as darkness follows the setting of the sun

Public Buildings Bill

Washington June 23—The senate Wednesday passed the omnibus public buildings bill as reported by the senate committee without further amendment It goes back to the house for concurrence

For Universal Peace

DISCARDS HORSE FOR RACING CAR

Roosevelt Is Won Over to the Automobile

MUCH REJOICING IN GASOLINE ROW

Constables Worry Over Colonel's New Fad

Roosevelt Repeatedly Admonishes Chauffeur To Hurry Faster on Way from Oyster Bay to New York City—Colonel Forced To Note Advantages of Machine During His European Tour

Oyster Bay June 24—It has taken years to accomplish it but the victory is complete Leaving his native land a firm advocate of the horse as the best means of travel Colonel Theodore Roosevelt returned to America wavering in his loyalty Since his arrival at Oyster Bay he has been completely won over to the charms of the high power automobile Hereafter the train schedule of the Long Island railroad will have no terrors to the chief citizen of America He will be his own engineer and will use a big racing car to journey between Sagamore Hill and the editorial offices of the Outlook

There is much rejoicing in gasoline row During all of the time the colonel was chief executive at Albany vice president and president at Washington automobile agents were persona non grata with him He was the friend of the horse and the horse was his friend and that was the last word

While touring Europe Colonel Roosevelt was compelled to utilize a gasoline propelled vehicle to keep his many engagements and he was thus forced to note its advantages over the horse drawn carriage When he reached his home on Saturday he found a high power car and expert chauffeur at his disposal and he waivered

Constables Worried

Yesterday he succumbed when he made the run to the city in the car, and today is an indication that the surrender was complete It is reported that several automobiles ranging from the mail touring runabout to the high powered car will be purchased by the colonel in the near future

The only men worrying over the colonels new fad are the country constables through whose bailiwicks he will run enroute to New York If they interfere with the popular idol should he break the speed laws, they fear it will cost them their jobs when they stand for re election If they do not interfere they will be in danger of defeat as inefficient

According to the chauffeur who brought the colonel into town yesterday he was repeatedly admonished to hurry and the faster the car went the better pleased the mighty hunter seemed Colonel Roosevelt already seems to have become as warm an admirer of automobiles as is his successor in the White House President Taft whose fast runs are the cause of much anxiety to his secret service guard

A Guest of Honor

Colonel Roosevelt rose today at 10 o after dining until after midnight as the guest of Robert J Collier at Sherry's He said he felt fine without a trace of a headache Immediately after breakfast he went in his automobile to his office in the Outlook where he dashed off a few editorial matters to be set right to double column triple leaded and then went to the coming of the Rough Riders reception committee

The war office eighty Generals Summers U S V retired present Chief Consul General Cooper U S A retired is his aide There were no speeches but a general talkfest Out of doors

Immediately after the luncheon the Rough Riders without their colonel went to Coney Island Roosevelt joined them back to Oyster Bay in his automobile

Before Colonel Roosevelt went to the luncheon he was presented with a gold Rough Rider badge by Captain Cosby of the Rough Riders and a guidon flag by Long D Muxlow a former sergeant of Rough Riders, on behalf of the Grand Army of the Republic of Oklahoma

Gifford Pinchot the deposed chief forester is to go to Sagamore Hill this evening

It is said that the late King Edward invited Zimmerman to become a British subject several times and that he even offered him a baronetcy

PROTECTS THE WATERSHEDS

That Is Plan of the Forest Reserve Bill.

SENATOR BURTON OPPOSES MEASURE

He Rises in Senate To Make a Few Remarks.

Representative Weeks Issues an Ultimatum That Congress Shall Not Adjourn Until It Passes the Bill—This Makes Statesmen Face Peculiar Problem—Three Presidents Recommend Passage of Bill

Washington, June 23—When Senator Burton of Ohio, arose in the senate today to make a few remarks on the bill to create mountain forest reserves, he had in mind a speech to last two days The only questions were whether his powers would be equal to the strain or whether the senate might decide upon a night session In the latter contingency it would be one very long speech instead of two speeches covering as many sessions

Senator Burtons oratorical preparations gave full notice that he did not like the bill also that he hoped the threatened consumption of so much time in this heated spell, when all congressmen are panting to go home would induce them to lay the bill over until next winter

On the other hand, Representative Weeks of Massachusetts, has issued an ultimatum that congress shall not adjourn until it has passed the bill So with Weeks filibustering to force congress to pass the bill, and Burton filibustering to prevent it the statesmen faced a peculiar problem

The bill proposes that the government shall cooperate with states and private land owners in maintaining forest reserves at the head waters of the rivers in the southern Appalachian and the White mountains Its application to other parts of the country is possible, but the two projects are the only ones now in view

Taft Urges Passage.

They have been pressed by powerful influences for years Bills to carry out the plan have been passed by the senate three times and once by the house but the two branches never acted in congress McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft recommended the passage of the bills

The argument in favor of the enterprise is that it will conserve the timber protect the watersheds of individual streams and prevent the destruction of agricultural lands by floods resulting from denuded watersheds

The bill appropriates $200 000 to enable the secretary of agriculture to operate with states or private owners of forested watersheds to protect the forests from fire He may also enter into agreements to administer private forest lands

It is further provided that there shall be appropriated $1 000,000 next year and $2,000,000 annually until 1916 for the purchase by the government of lands situated at the headwaters of navigable streams or those which may be made navigable Those purchases are to be subject to the approval of a commission consisting of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, two senators and two representatives The secretary of agriculture is given authority to divide the lands into national forests

An appropriation of $25 000 a year is made to pay the expenses of the commission

Hester Makes Threat

Outside of the arrival of Jeff and his announcement that he would train at Moana Springs the feature of the day was the threat of Sid Hester a San Francisco promoter that he would stage a 4 round bout between Stanley Ketchel and Sam Langford on the morning of July 4 in spite of the objections of Tex Rickard and the local committee that has been raising funds to put up an arena for the Jeffries Johnson fight

Some days ago Hester went to Rickard with a proposition to use the big arena for a morning fight for the middleweight championship between Ketchel and Langford Rickard at that time refused to give a decided answer but later flatly refused to allow Hester to use the arena Rickard explained that the people of Reno object to any such course and that he did not believe it was fair for Hester to break into the game

lowed with supper Charlton remained in Como until Thursday the day of the body was found when he left presumably for Genoa

Police Suspect

The Italian authorities at first thought but he had been killed with his wife and they arrested a Russian suspected Constantine Ispolatoff who was released by the police until Monday when he was released

The police worked on the theory that Ispolatoff was the murderer partially to satisfy United States Consul Corby at Milan and United States Ambassador Leishman who insisted that Charlton was innocent and had himself been slain

This theory was adhered to despite the evidence of frequent quarrels between Charlton and his wife his well known jealousy of her and the fact that on the day of the murder Charlton inquired of several fishermen as to the deepest part of Lake Como

The Charltons were married in Wilmington Delaware on March 1 and left a few days later for a trip abroad Charlton announcing that he had left $10 000 in a bank in Hamburg Germany

Charlton is about twenty two years old while his wife was thirty five This disparity in their ages coupled with the youthful career of his wife is supposed to have engendered jealousy in Charlton and to have been the motive cause of the murder

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

It Will Be Held Only Five Weeks from Now

CHANGE IN THE ENGINEERS' LAW

It Saves Many Fees for the Applicants

Application Is Filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court Asking a Receiver for the Columbus Casualty Company—Warden Jones Hits Upon Novel Scheme Boom on for Lindsay

Columbus O June 22—The Democratic state convention is over and now attention will be turned to the Republican convention which will be held some five weeks from now For the first time in many years the Democrats held their convention in advance of that of the Republicans While the geographical location of the candidates nominated by the Democrats will affect somewhat no doubt some of the nominations to be made by the Republicans this will not cut the figure that it would have done formerly because it is really becoming more popular with the people to select men with regard to their fitness rather than their geographical situation So geography is not going to count so much this year as heretofore

Change in Law

The change in the stationary engineers law enables the district examiners to administer oaths to the applicants and this saves the latter fees they have heretofore paid to notaries In some instances they would be charged as much as a dollar Every application had to be sworn to and there was always more or less complaint on the part of the applicants because of the notary fees Now the examiners do the work of the notary and make no charge This also saves time because in the small towns and villages the applicant would often be obliged to go some distance before locating a notary

Asks for Receiver

An application has been filed with the Franklin county common pleas court for the appointment of a receiver for the Columbus Casualty company which has stockholders in many cities of the state It was filed by Emory J Smith a stockholder and it is alleged that the directors have impaired the capital stock to the extent of nearly $2 000 The state insurance commissioner will interest himself in the litigation for the protection of the interests of the policyholders

SENATE PASSES BANK MEASURE

Action Brings Joy to Heart of President.

TAFT DECLARES NEWS IS BULLY

President Calls Himself an Amateur Banker.

Upper House Also Agrees to Campaign Publicity and Reclamation Bills—Taft Secures as Much from Congress as Roosevelt Does at Any Single Session—Expects To Have More Credit by Saturday.

Washington June 23—The smooth sailing encountered by his administration measures in the senate during the past few days has brought a great joy to President Taft He has already got as much or more from congress than President Roosevelt obtained in any single session and when the record is completed on Saturday the president it is said, will have to his credit one of the most impressive list of measures that any president since the civil war has got in equal time

The president heard of the passage of the postal savings bank bill by the senate just about as he was to mount his horse for a ride through Rock Creek park When he returned to the White House two hours later he was informed that two of his other measures the campaign publicity bill and the reclamation bill also had slopped through the senate and soon would be sent to the White House

Bully! exclaimed the president, when he learned of the latest developments at the capitol The quick action on the publicity measure obviously was an agreeable surprise to the president He had feared that it might cause some discussion in the senate and extend the date of adjournment beyond Saturday

Calls Himself Amateur Banker.

In speaking of the postal savings bank legislation the president remarked that he might be an amateur banker but in this case he thought amateur banking was pretty good That of course was a dig at Senator Dolliver of Iowa who had criticised the president as an amateur banker"

The passage of the postal savings bank bill in the form that the president desired it probably has given him as much personal satisfaction as any other legislation that he has obtained from congress The president feels that in advocating the postal savings bank measure he was voicing the wishes of thousands who are without the influence to give adequate expression to their needs It is this phase of the postal savings bank bill—the thought that a system has been established which will encourage thrift and saving among the poor—in which the president takes the greatest satisfaction

No Cause for Scare

Editor Star— It seems to me that Mr Charles E Allen's statement in your paper of the 15th is misleading in regard to Mr Morral's appraisements The amount of taxes raised under the old appraisement of $45 7 0 at the rate of nineteen mills the general levy for Grand Prairie in 1909 it would raise $8 5 9 Then take the new appraisement of $606 848 at one and one half per cent would raise $9 10 7 an increase of $8 2 4 7 So do not get scared about the county being bankrupt yet J A Sickel

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD BY THE RED MEN

At he Hall in the Cummin Block Tuesday Night.

REV. J. W. MILES DELIVERS ADDRESS

Marion Chapter Holds a Special Meeting—Royal Arcanum, Mizpah Encampment, Pythian Sisterhood, Canby Lodge and Other Local Secret Orders Hold Meetings.

Many members of the order, together with their relatives and friends, attended the annual memorial exercises of Sandusky Tribe, No. 98 Improved Order of Red Men, Tuesday evening, in the Cummin block at Main and Church streets.

The hall was decorated with flags and flowers. Rev. J. W. Miles, pastor of the United Brethren church, delivered the memorial address, taking the order's motto, "Freedom, Friendship and Charity," for his subject.

Rev Mr. Miles went into the history of the Red Men's organization, telling of its origin and speaking eloquently of the Indian from whom it derives its name. He said the Red Men were inseparately linked with the cause of freedom and that friendship was a link that was welded in a chain of charity. He spoke at considerable length of the great good that had been accomplished through the charity of fraternal organizations. He did not mean the charity of alms altogether, but a far nobler charity of love, of right-living and of action.

The Ladies' quartet from the United Brethren church sang several selections during the evening. The quartet is composed of Mrs. DeWitte Bender, Mrs Charles Bender, Miss Golda Geibaugh and Miss Verda Miles.

The names of the dead members of the local tribe were read, as follows: John Uhl, David Schultz, John Haberman, Frederick Cull, John Creasap, Philip Ruhl, Frederick Wetzel, George Bland, Andrew Herriott, Albert Wittinger, Frederick Weis, Edward F. Haller, Frederick J. Lusch and George J. Lusch.

The following Thursday, June 30, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m. the illustrious order of the red cross will be conferred on three candidates, followed by the orders of temple and Malta at 3 o'clock p. m.

DIETERLE RECITAL IS A GREAT TREAT

The Eleven-Year-Old Boy Violinist Pleases Audience.

In spite of the warm weather and counter attractions, a fair-sized audience greeted Master Kurt Helmuth Dieterle, the brilliant young violinist, at the German M. E. church, Tuesday evening, and enjoyed his recital throughout.

This wonderful eleven-year-old boy manifestly has the making of a great artist in him. One of the commendable points of his playing is his intelligent conception and pleasing interpretation, and although he did show the emotion of the adult artist, yet his understanding of what he did was a marvel to those who heard him.

Being naturally handicapped by a small hand, some of the fingering was executed with difficulty, yet executed well, but with the bow he displayed the utmost skill.

Master Dieterle's father, Rev. Max Dieterle, played the accompaniments in splendid style and showed himself possessed of the real factors which go to make up the reliable accompanist.

ENTERTAINMENT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Mrs. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop Repeats Her Attraction.

A large and interested audience attended the lecture of Mrs. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, on the great Passion play at Ober Ammergau," at the Free Baptist church, Tuesday evening.

The Passion play, which is given every ten years by the village folks of Ober Ammergau, Bavaria, is being produced at the present time, and Mrs. Bishop who is a very pleasing and effective speaker, gave an interesting lecture during the showing of the pictures, which were exceptionally fine.

Mrs. Bishop also gave a number of vocal selections from the Messiah, responding to a number of encores. She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Victor Dombaugh and Miss Marguerite Krause.

APPRAISEMENT OF THE C.,D. & M. ROAD

Is Made by Auditors of Franklin, Delaware and Marion.

$321,249.60 IS THE VALUE PLACED ON IT

Less Than One-Tenth the Amount of Its Capital Stock and Bonded Indebtedness—Of an Increase of $57,271.50, the Slice Marion County Gets Is $7,800.

Although the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company is capitalized for $2,500,000, and bonded for an equal amount, it will pay taxes on less than one-tenth of that sum, according to the appraisement fixed at a meeting of the auditors of Marion, Delaware and Franklin counties held in Columbus, Tuesday. However, Marion county will receive an increase of $7,800.

The entire road was appraised at $321,249.60 as against $263,878 last year, an increase of $57,271.60. The appraisemnt was not made higher on account of the fact that the company has not been in good financial condition, being in the hands of a receiver.

The main track was increased from $4,250 to $4,500 a mile, while the lines here were increased from $2,600 to $2,800 a mile. The pole lines and power-house here were appraised in with the C., D. & M. for the first ime at $2,200 a mile and the rolling stock on the local lines at $1,600 a mile.

The power-house, moneys and credits of the C., D. & M. proper is appraised at $1,000 a mile, as are the sidings. The rolling stock of the C., D. & M. is $800 a mile.

For the first time the line from Davids street on Center street to the interurban station is appraised as the property of the C., D. & M., which is regarded as an advantage to the city.

At Delaware the rolling stock is appraised at $350 a mile and the main track at $2,300 a mile.

Contract for Printing.

The contract for printing 500 ballots for the special school bond election to be held at Caledonia, Friday, July 1, was awarded to William M. Tracy at his bid of $3.50 by the board of elections, Tuesday evening. The only other bidder was Richard Horn.

OHIO ASSOCIATION OF MEXICAN WAR VETERANS

Hold Their Thirty-Sixth Annual Reunion Wednesday.

BUSINESS SESSION IS HELD IN THE MORNING

Veterans Given an Auto Ride About the City Before the Noon Hour. Fine Spread Served—Camp-Fire Is Held at the Epworth M. E. Church in the Afternoon.

This was a proud day for Marion county soldiers of the civil and Spanish-American wars, because they were privileged to entertain for the first time a tiny remnant of that once gallant army that never met defeat in battle.

The day marked the thirty-sixth annual reunion of the Ohio State Association of Mexican War Veterans. Only seventeen of 100 or more members of the association, owing to their infirmities, were able to attend. They are George T. Barney, aged eighty-two years, of Elkhart, Indiana, D company, Fifth Ohio Volunteer infantry; Jackson Slade, aged eighty, of Covington, G company, First Ohio Volunteer infantry; Benjamin F. Jacobs, aged eighty-seven, of Parrot, Fayette county, C company, Fourth United States artillery; Conrad Gasche, aged eighty-five, of Wauseon, K company, Eleventh Ohio Volunteer infantry; Dr. James Cutler, aged seventy-eight, of Richwood, E company, Second United States infantry; Dr. D. W. Henderson, aged eighty-six, of Marysville, E company, Fourth Ohio Volunteer infantry; Captain John A. Fisher, aged eighty-four, of Granville, C company, Second Ohio Volunteer infantry; Daniel C. Darlington, aged eighty-three, of Newark, one of Captain John R. Duncan's company of Ohio mounted volunteers; Jacob Schoenlaub, aged eighty, of Marion, B company, Fourth Ohio Volunteer infantry; William Mallin, aged eighty-two, of Columbus, K company, Second Ohio Volunteer infantry; William Bish, aged eighty, of Hardin county, K company, Ohio Volunteer infantry; Samuel Cramer, of London; Josiah Anderson, of South Lebanon; James B. Buell, of Covington, and three who did not report to the secretary.

In Two Wars.

Of these seventeen Mexican soldiers in attendance, eight of them also saw service in the civil war. They are Conrad Gasche, Benjamin F. Jacobs, Jackson Slade, George T. Barney, Dr. James Cutler, Dr. D. W. Henderson, Captain John A. Fisher and Daniel C. Darlington.

With the hall of Cooper Post, No. 117, G. A. R., in the courthouse, draped with the stars and stripes carried in the Mexican, civil and Spanish-American war, Dr. James Cutler, of Richwood, the president, called the association to order shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday. Seven or eight Mexican war veterans were present, together with a number of the soldiers of the civil war.

Just before President Cutler rapped for order, John J. Crawley, a veteran of the civil war, gently slapped one of the aged Mexican war veterans on the back and said with a touch of tenderness in his voice, "You are one of them boys that never met a defeat."

"No, we never met a defeat," replied the other in a voice that trembled.

"Let's transact our business and get it done with, gentlemen," shouted the president. He had to talk very loud, so that all of the veterans could hear.

It was unanimously decided that Colonel W. L. Curry, of Columbus, an honorary member of the association, should be given a suitable present because he had bound all the records of the association in book form to be preserved. A committee, consisting of the president, Captain John A. Fisher and Dr. D. W. Henderson, was authorized to purchase a gift to be presented to Colonel Curry as a token of the association members' appreciation.

George T. Barney, of Elkhart, Indiana, was authorized by motion to try and get the National Association of Mexican War veterans to meet in Indianapolis, August 6.

Election of Officers.

The election was then taken up and hurriedly disposed of by President Cutler. The following officers were elected:

Daniel C. Darlington, of Newark, president; Dr. James Cutler, of Richwood, first vice president; Jacob Schoenlaub, of Marion, second vice president; Captain John A. Fisher, of Granville, third vice president; Benjamin F. Jacobs, of Parrot, Fayette county, fourth vice-president; Captain Frank A. Hardy, of Piqua, fifth vice president; Jackson Slade, of of Covington, marshal; Miss Eleanor E. Fisher, of Roxabell, Ross county, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. John A. Fisher, of Roxabell, assistant secretary.

At 11 o'clock the Mexican veterans were given an automobile ride over the city and enjoyed it immensely. Following the sight-seeing tour, a group picture of them was taken and a fine dinner was served by the Spanish-American soldiers to the veterans of the Mexican and civil wars in the basement of the Epworth M. E. church.

A public reception was accorded the veterans of 1847 at 1 o'clock, and many wrung their hands.

Of 5,000 or more who took part in the Mexican war from Ohio a few over 100 are now living. The exact number of survivors is not known. The pension lists show ninety-six Mexican war veterans from Ohio still living. Others who fought in the Mexican war also fought in the civil war, and are now drawing pensions as soldiers of the civil war, making the records inaccurate so far as the number of Mexican veterans in Ohio is concerned.

Afternoon Program.

A program was carried out in the auditorium of the Epworth church, that afternoon. The meeting was opened by singing "America," after which Mayor John G. Seiter delivered a brief address of welcome.

Dr. Cutler responded in a pleasing way. In addition to the welcome address of Mayor Seiter, remarks of welcome will also be made by Major S. N. Titus, on behalf of the civil war veterans; Major T. E. Andrews, on behalf of the Spanish-American war soldiers and George B. Scofield, on behalf of the Sons of Veterans.

Addresses were also delivered by Colonel W. L. Curry, of Columbus, and Warren G. Harding, of this city.

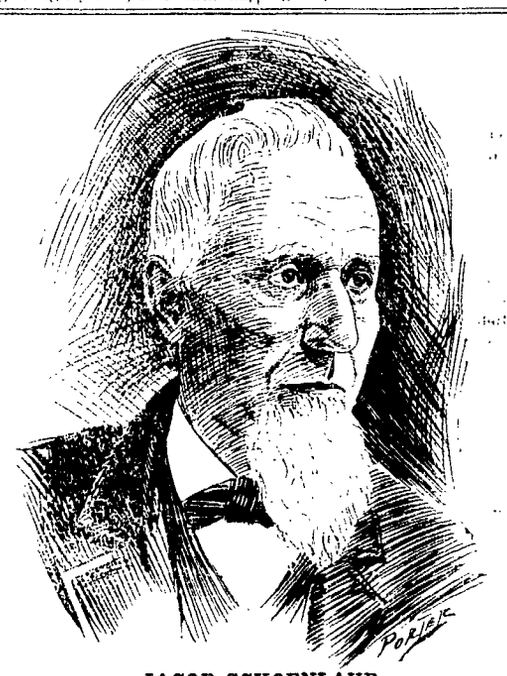
A quartet furnished music.

Marion County Veteran.

Jacob Schoenlaub, the only veteran of the Mexican war living in Marion county, was one of the most conspicuous figures in the annual gathering of that tiny remnant of a once mighty host. He was born in Bavaria, Germany, March 5, 1830, and came to this country with his parents, who located in Marion county when he was two years of age. He was reared on his father's farm, in Richland township. At the age of seventeen, upon the outbreak of the Mexican war, he enlisted in B company, Fourth regiment, Ohio Volunteer infantry, under Colonel Brough.

In April, 1847, Mr. Schoenlaub left Marion for Columbus, where B company was formed, and from that city proceeded with the other members of the company to Cincinnati. In the Queen City the Mexican war soldiers went down the Ohio river to New Orleans, where a boat was taken across the gulf to Brazos island. From Brazos island, Mr. Schoenlaub and his soldier companions were taken to Matamoras, and stationed along the Rio Grande for two months. They were then ordered to Vera Cruz, under the command of General Lane.

Through several small battles and brushes, Mr. Schoenlaub passed without a scratch. He was not even sick during the entire time he was in the army. In the latter part of July, 1848, after peace had been declared, he returned to Marion, and engaged in farming in Richland township. He was married to Miss Dorothy Dietsch, in July, 1851, and for fifteen years lived with his wife on a farm of fifty acres in Richland township that he had entered on a soldiers' land warrant given him by the government as a reward for his services in Mexico. His first vote was cast for General Winfield Scott for president, and ever since then he has voted the Democratic ticket.



JACOB SCHOENLAUB,
Marion County's Only Survivor of the Mexican War.

Lookin' for Chum.

"Don't get scared, boys; I am just lookin' for an old chum of mine, that's all."

The pathetic little figure of a very old man, who waved a cane as he spoke, swayed backward and forward across the base of the big stone steps on the south side of the courthouse, shortly after 8 o'clock, Tuesday night.

"No, you needn't think that I am going to hit you with this cane," continued the feeble old fellow. "I am lookin' for an old chum, but I don't see him anywhere. Say, you young boys there, sit up and listen. I want to tell you something. See this old worn-out frame here? Well, I wish a thousand times I'd a-left it down on the battle fields of Mexico. I am now eighty-five years old and come here to attend the reunion of us Mexican war soldiers, but I am lookin' for an old chum of mine—an old chum in the army. We used to bunk together and we thought a lot of each other. I've only seen him once since that time and I heard he was to be in Marion at this meeting."

The Mexican war veteran staggered from one side of the big steps to the other, talking all the time. He weaved like a man who is intoxicated and his tongue seemed about as loose. But he wasn't drunk. He wanted to talk about those days so long ago. He couldn't resist telling those young fellows he saw sitting on the stone steps something about the Mexican war, while he was looking "for an old chum."

"There ain't very many of us left any more, because a lot of us went to the civil war and never returned. We're getting pretty old, but I ain't missed a reunion in years."

"You haven't told us who you are?" asked one young man as the veteran marched up and down, up and down.

"Well, my name might be General Winfield Scott, but it ain't," he replied. Then he ambled away, mumbling something about "lookin' for his chum."

Veteran of Ninety-Five.

Among the guests of the surviving Mexican war veterans was a Marion county resident who is a veteran of the civil war, and older than any of the assembled survivots of the Mexican war. John Cobo, of Big Island township, is the veteran referred to, looks about seventy-five, and is actually ninety-five. He enlisted in Union county, with the Thirtieth O. V. I., and served in the civil war for three years and five months. Mr. Cobo was born in the year of Waterloo, was almost early enough to hear the echoes of Perry's victory on Lake Erie, and yet mingled Wednesday with the survivors of three wars and was one of the liveliest old men in the crowd. Age has scarcely whitened his hair or wrinkled his face, but Mr. Cobo insists that his legs wobble at times and his heart has spells of balking from long service. But his courage is good, and he is ready for the last roll call whenever his name is uttered.

Notes of the Reunion.

The association usually elects its president from the place in which it expects next to meet.

The drum and fife, as they were played in the days of '47, were heard around the courthouse Wednesday.

"This is a hospitable place, remarked President Cutler to a group of old soldiers. "The people can't do enough for us boys, it seems." He smiled happily.

A group picture of the Mexican war veterans was taken in front of the armory of D company, O. N. G., on east Center street, shortly before noon. A great American flag was draped over the entrance.

Captain John A. Fisher, of Granville, and Dr. James Cutler, of Richwood, gave an exhibiton drill at the Grand army post hall, Wednesday, as it was done in the Mexican war. With the great heavy musket used in that war, Dr. Cutler gave the various manenvers when Captain Fisher shouted the commands. The exhibition created much interest on the part of the veterans of the civil war who watched it. "I did not hear him say 'attention' once," said a civil war soldier when Captain Fisher and Dr. Cutler had concluded their military entertainment.

THE DAMAGE CLAIMS ARE BADLY SLASHED

Cut Down from Over $100,000 to Less Than $10,000.

MANY LEGAL FIGHTS BEING PREDICTED

Almost Every Legal Light in the City Is Present at the Hearing Being Held in the Common Pleas Court Room Wednesday — Assessments Published Wednesday.

Scioto river improvement damage claims amounting to more than $100,000 were cut down to less than $10,000 by the county commissioners at the final hearing held in the common pleas court-room.

Following is a complete list of the claims allowed, the total being $9,870:

Ezra Campbell, $275; L. M. Thompson, $200; James J. Williams, Irene Beerbower and Mary E. Camp, $275; J. J. Holland, $300; W. S. Ruth, $450; Frank James, $300; Nypano Railroad company, $2,500; Harry Lowe, $400; J. B. Guthery, $50; Frank Morris, $200; Henry Hildebrand, $65; Adam and May Somerlot, $1,100; Marion City Water company, $800; Christian Eaton, $25; Frank E. Coon, S. R. Reber, Emma K. Smith, Ell Bair, Lucretia Walters, five dollars each; Ida Shoots, $25; Big Four Railway compan, $200; Frank J. Mahaffey, $180.

The majority of these claims, all of which were considerably pared, are for land taken or damage done to fences or bridges, pipes and tiling.

The second reading of the list of taxpayers to be assessed was not completed until Wednesday, when the taxpayers residing in Marion were given an opportunity to complain. Two or three exceptions were taken.

Indications are that several actions will be brought in court. Nearly every legal firm in this city was represented at Wednesday's hearing.

Hearing Still On.

At Wednesday afternoon's final hearing of the Scioto river improvement, a number of farmers excepted to the amount of assessments against them. Hearing on the various exceptions will not be held until Saturday or next week.

The commissioners are very much pleased over results so far.

"Why, we expected a lot more trouble than we've had," said a member of the board, Thursday. "I have seen 'em almost get into a fight, shaking their fists at one another and swearing at a little ditch hearing, but there has been none of that in this hearing. Things are progressing rapidly."

The final hearing is attended by about as many lawyers as taxpayers. After adjourning, late Wednesday afternoon, the commissioners resumed the hearing, next morning at 10 o'clock. Only a small crowd was in attendance.

The county commissioners adjourned at noon until 1 o'clock, Friday. Many taxpayers who will be assessed for this improvement have given notice of appeal to the probate court.

YEARS TOO OFTEN WASTED

Magazine Writer Calls Attention to What He Considers a Danger to Democracy.

As conditions now exist there comes into the life of the average boy or girl four or five waste years—the years between thirteen and eighteen These waste years hold in them the real dangers of our democracy For out of school the boy at least is worthless If the boy goes out to attempt to learn a trade at 14 years of age the manufacturer says I do not want you in my factory and the manufacturer will not employ the boy except as an errand boy

And yet 10 000 000 of fourteen year old boys and their sisters—who are really worth something—are out of school in America today Partly they are out for economic reasons the family needs their support But apart from economic forces there are social reasons why he is not in school His studies and his teachers and at the bottom of all the selfishness of the taxpayers

For when a child is not doing well in school the parents find it easy to put him to work outside Probably 5 000 000 leave school not because they have to leave to support the family but because the parents feel that the boy at least are better off working out of school than idling and wrangling with their teachers in school The instinct of the boy for physical education as well as for mental training should be heeded The boy longs for manly things to see things and to do things with his hand The almost universal introduction of manual training in some form into the lower grades of American schools giving the boy opportunity to work with his hands is one of the most important symptoms of social health in our political organization—American Magazine

HOUSE YIELDS TO PRESIDENT

Kills Labor Amendment to Sundry Civil Bill.

UNIONS PUT UP HARD FIGHT

Proposition Was to Exempt Them From Operations of Sherman Anti Trust Law—Taft Holds That Under Supreme Court Ruling They Must Take Their Medicine in Case of Boycotts — To Relieve Them Would Be Class Legislation

Washington June 24—By putting his shoulder to the legislative wheel and pushing with might and main President Taft blocked an attempt which labor union leaders had got well under way to exempt the organizations from the operation of the Sherman antitrust law in matter of boycotts The union leaders had succeeded in attaching amendment of this character to the sundry civil bill The amendment had been voted down in the senate but had passed the house The conferees of the two houses failed to agree but the lower house by a vote of 172 to 10 instructed their representatives to return to the conference and insist on the house amendment

By this time Samuel Gompers and other union labor leaders were busy at work bringing pressure to bear on both at the White House and upon congressmen whose renomination are uncertain It began to look as if the house would stand stubbornly by its previous votes and that adjournment might be put off indefinitely Indeed it was feared that the amendment itself might be forced through the senate in some way or other before the deadlock ended

President Considerably Alarmed

President Taft was considerably alarmed over the prospect and he set to work quietly He called to the White House all of the members of the house who have been known because of a fear that union labor might defeat them in their home districts The result was evident when the house recalled the bill from conference and instructed the conferees to agree to the senate amendment This action of course amounted to a voting down of the amendment The vote this time was 195 to 10 President Taft however did not stop with the victory which he had taken He informed the labor leaders that he believed the proposed amendment was class legislation of a very undesirable type The president left no doubt in the minds of the labor men how he feels on the subject The presidents expressions was called forth chiefly by a telegram which he received from W S Carter president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of St Paul Minn The telegram was a vigorous protest against what Mr Carter called the use of the people's money to prosecute labor unions efforts to better conditions

President Taft replied by wire to Mr Carter saying that since the supreme court decided that boycotts were violations of the Sherman anti trust laws and that an attempt to prevent the enforcement of its provisions against labor unions or this legislation he suggested the amendment to the Sherman act to some what modify its action would be a proper question for consideration

USE MACHINES FOR JUDGING

Method Recently Devised Would Seem to Put End to All Possible Controversy

For registering the results of athletic contests the human eye and voice sometime seem painfully inadequate Close contests of this kind are now judged in some parts of the world by judging machines

One such device the invention of an Austrian is designed to be placed at the finish line in a running race and consists of a light metal frame partitioned into two or more divisions, each about four feet wide On top of the frame stands a small cabinet containing numbered divisions corresponding to the numbers of the tracks

The instant the first man passes through his division a shutter falls, disclosing his track number The other numbers are immediately locked except when the machine is set for final heats In this case a small cylinder is attached to the machine and a hammer held strikes a mark on the revolving cylinder as the men finish Thus the exact positions of all competitors can be told to a nicety

The same inventor has originated an automatic judging machine for bicycle races It consists of fine light metal strips placed in a small trench about two inches wide which is sunk across the track at the finish

During the last lap these strips, which are coated with enamel are placed in position by means of a lever and the first wheel to cross receives five marks In crossing, however, it displaces one of the strips and the next wheel therefore, receives only four marks and so on—The Sunday Magazine

REASON FOR THE SLOW TIME

Irritable Traveler May Not Have Been Convinced but He had to Be Reconciled

The trains on the branch road never went very fast There were various reasons for this all good ones Nevertheless travelers from more populous districts sometimes expressed forcible opinions on the subject Silas Wetmore who rode back and forth to and from the junction almost every day took it upon himself to pacify such as were unduly disturbed by the waits and stops of the little sawed off string of cars

One day a particularly irritable passenger sat next to him He not only complained that the train was slow but wished to know why it was slow

What are we stopping for now? he asked

Silas looked out of the window

This is a station he said mildly

Don't see any, said the other

Oh there isn't any building said Silas but it's a stopping place

By and by the train went on Presently it stopped apparently in the middle of a field This time the stranger did not inquire into the reason for halting But after another 20 minutes the same thing occurred Finally he broke out again

What are we stopping here for? Isn't any station here is they?

No station said Silas 'Were stopping for water

Water' exclaimed the other 'Water! Why we just took in water not five minutes ago What do you mean?

Roller leaks said Silas patiently, and the other relapsed into silence—Youths Companion

Primitive Chinese Currency.

Writing from the interior of China, a traveler says Currency is primitive to a degree Lump silver only is used and copper cash Coined money is not current Even in Honan city, which is distant only two days by rail from Pekin lump silver the same cumbrous currency that has been used for centuries is still employed It is cut into small pieces by hammer and chisel Every town and village has its own weights and scales and there is no pretence at uniformity

Still always in all other and in all lands as

BURTON ON FILIBUSTER

Ohio Senator Talks Colleagues Into Adjournment of Session

Washington June 24 — The most picturesque filibuster that has been witnessed in the senate for many sessions was directed against the authorizing the White Mountain Appalachian forest reserves For time it appeared to be a one man buster Senator Newlands of Nevada single handed held the floor for several hours When an effort was made to adjourn Senator Burton explained that he had a long speech to make in opposition to the measure but would prefer to make it today

Senator Brandegee who was chairman of the bill objected to adjournment and Senator Burton calmly accepted the situation sent out and had a bag of peanuts brought into the senate chamber and when not eating he occasionally addressed the chair He stated that he was willing to go with the senate insisted but added that he would insist upon a quorum Senators being constantly in the senate to listen to his speech After about an hour and a half had been devoted to an effort to secure a quorum the friends of the forest reserve bill gave up the fight for the time being and Senator Gallinger announced that recess be taken His motion prevailed

POLICE COURT.

J. K. Forsythe, who was arrested last Friday night on a charge of gambling, was given a hearing in the mayor's court Monday afternoon. Forsythe was represented by Attorneys L. E. Meyers and F. W. Warner, while City Solicitor Boyd represented the prosecution.

Captain Bond and Officers Hostetter and Cusic testified that they visited a north Main street rooming-house, where they raided a room and found a number of men whom they testified were playing cards. Irvin Long, who testified for the defense, claimed that he had not had a card in his hands on the evening mentioned.

Miles Longshore, city clerk, was called to the stand, and the minute book showing the passage of the ordinance was offered in evidence. Attorneys for the defendant endeavored to show that this book did not show the publication of the ordinance against gambling. Longshore testified that this would not be shown in the minute book, but in the ordinance book.

The copy of the ordinance from the minute book was allowed to be attached to the bill of exceptions, should it be necessary, and the solicitor was granted the privilege of offering the ordinance book in evidence, but this was not done.

At the conclusion of the testimony the mayor reserved his decision until Friday morning.

Hardy, a telegraph operator of the Hocking Valley railroad, who was quite well known in this city among the local railroad men, was killed probably almost instantly, by being struck by one of the early morning northbound passenger trains, Sunday morning, while returning to his home at Fostoria, after having served his trick at the telegraph office four miles south of that place. A speeder is used at the office for the men to go to and from the office, and Hardy was riding swiftly along the tracks when he was overtaken by the passenger. The car was hurled into the ditch, and Hardy had both legs cut off. He was found eight hours later by one of the other operators.

Clifford S. Fox, who has been in charge of the transfer work of the American Express company at the union station, has been given a nice promotion, and is now the agent of the company at Port Clinton. He has already assumed his new duties. For the past three years, Fox has been employed by the company here. T. W. Scott, night man at the station, will succeed Fox in the day trick, and C. S. Harris, a former employe, now located at Fremont, Michigan, will take Scott's place.

She was born in Perry county, Ohio, June 11, 1843, and was the eldest child of Martin and Emily (Swick) Hite. In the fall of 1864, she moved with her parents to Wyandot county, they moving overland in a wagon, she driving a team most of the way, carrying on her person $1,000. After leaving Perry county, she had always lived in the southern part of Antrim township, Wyandot county. January 5, 1871, she was married to P. M. Howe, also of the same township. No children blessed this union, yet Mr. and Mrs. Howe gave a home to two orphan children, Miss Alvida Wetzel and W. O. Malin. Miss Wetzel preceded her in death some years ago, while Mr. Malin is left to mourn with the husband and a host of relatives, friends and neighbors. Her parents, five brothers and one sister also preceded her to the eternal world, she being the last survivor of the Hite family. Mrs. Howe was an active and worthy member of the Wyandot grange. The funeral service at Brush Ridge was conducted by Elder A. S. Shoemaker, of Ashley. Burial in cemetery nearby. ***

THE EXTENDED LIFE.

By William T. Ellis.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for June 26, "Money, Men and Prayers: the Three Great Missionary Needs." II Corinthians 9:1-19; Matthew 9:35-38.

There are various ways of coming into contact with the mission field. Some of us may touch it with our hands, gathering the ripe grain for the King's garner; others of us can touch it only through the contribution box; the point of contact is our gifts; still others reach the regions beyond by way of the mercy seat; they are the Christians whose prayers constantly ascend for the cause of missions. The first of these means is a privilege granted only to a few; the other two rest as a duty upon follower of the Saviour of the world

* * *

We may go by sending. Our gifts may represent us on foreign fields.

* * *

Who is the missionary? is it alone the person who journeys to foreign lands, turning his back upon home and loved ones for the gospel's sake? Such a definition excludes those who, perhaps at great sacrifice, surrender son or brother or friend. It shuts out, also, those whose gifts and prayers and labors at home make possible the departure of the workers for foreign fields. Surely, it is not God's plan that a few individuals should be chosen out of the ranks of all of God's faithful ones and to them be given the high name of missionaries. Whoever labors, in whatever manner or in whatever place, for the extension of God's kingdom on earth is a missionary. There is hope and cheer and glory for all of Christ's friends in the truth that to his eye there is no difference between those who go and those who stay that others may go. Every true Christian is a missionary.

* * *

We may shut the Spirit of God from our heart by shutting our purse to the world's needs.

* * *

There are many routes to the mission field. One is the prayer route. By it some of the world's best missionaries have entered the field. Another is the intelligence-and-sympathy route. Another is the gift route. Another is the preach-in-person route. These are all divinely appointed, and at least one is open to every disciple.

* * *

The missionary church is a praying church, a reading church, and a giving church.

* * *

"Send me!" one exclaims. "Why not my brother?" Simply because the voice has come to you. If God has called your brother the honor of giving up his life to the proclamation of the gospel would have been his. Now it is yours. The call is a commission. They who hear God's summons are they whom he would send.

* * *

If men gave as much heed to their personalities as they do to their purses, they would be richer for two worlds.

* * *

A familiar saying, as true as it is pointed, declares that the main reliance of the cause of foreign missions has been "dead men and living women."

* * *

All the church is needed to save all the world.

* * *

What is the great missionary problem of the hour? Has it to do with China, or Turkey, or India? Is it a matter of money or methods or men? No, a hundred times no; the one great problem which weighs upon every missionary board and upon every lover of the kingdom is this: How to arouse the church to an intelligent purpose to carry the gospel to the world's unevangelized millions. Once let the great body of Christians become possessed of the conviction that it is their immediate and imperative duty to spread the good news of Jesus everywhere, and in a twinkling all problems will disappear. If the church resolves to do her whole duty in preaching the gospel, the ends of the earth will hear the sweet sound of salvation within a decade.

* * *

The work of evangelizing this world, for every man, is a matter of personal, inalienable obligation.—Robert E. Speer.

* * *

Electricians are seeking ways of transmitting power by means of wireless telegraphy. Prayer for the missionaries accomplishes this result.—Amos R. Wells.

The bride wore a beautiful, but simple, gown of white French organdie with real lace trimmings.

The dining room was decorated with pink roses and the bride's table, at which were seated the bride and groom and the immediate relatives, had a centerpiece of carnations, while from the chandelier to the corners of the cloth were drawn ribbons of pink and white crepe paper. The other guests to the number of two score were seated at small tables about the parlors. A number of the girl friends of the bride assisted in serving.

REUNION OF VETERANS OF THE MEXICAN WAR

Exercises Held at Epworth M. E. Church.

ATTENDANCE IS GOOD DESPITE THE HEAT

Addresses Are Made by Colonel Christian, Major Seiter, Major Titus, Major McMurray, Colonel Curry, Rev. J. P. Currin, Dr. Cutler and Dr. Henderson.

Despite the very excessive heat, a good-sized audience gathered at Epworth M. E. church, Wednesday afternoon, when the exercises of the thirty-sixth annual reunion of the Mexican War veterans were held. The program of the afternoon was interesting throughout, and the attention of the veterans was held closely.

George B. Christian was in charge. After an opening hymn, Dr. D. H. Bailey, of Epworth M. E. church, offered the invocation, and gave a short talk, after which Mayor J. G. Seiter gave the address of welcome on behalf of the city. He spoke interestingly of the work done by the veterans, and gave them a very cordial welcome to come to the city at any time.

A welcome on behalf of the civil war veterans was given by Major S. N. Titus, who declared that it was with an unusual feeling of appreciation that the old soldiers of the civil war greeted the veterans of the Mexican war. He declared that it did the men good to take the hands of these men, who have done gallant service for their country.

More Welcomes.

The welcome on behalf of the Spanish War veterans was given by Dr. James Wilson McMurray, who substituted for Major T. E. Andrews, who was unable to be present.

Major McMurray gave an excellent talk in which he told of the unpreparedness of the men at the time of the Spanish-American war. Deploring the number of men who came to their death on account of disease in that war, Major McMurray advocated greater care toward being prepared for any and all emergencies. In closing his talk, Major McMurray gave a cordial welcome to the veterans.

George B. Scofield, who was to have given an address of welcome on behalf of the Sons of Veterans, was unable to be present and Colonel W. L. Curry, of Columbus, was introduced at this time and gave an eloquent address. The speaker said in part:

Colonel Curry Talks.

"It has been my pleasure to meet with you on several occasions at your annual reunion, and I assure you I feel highly honored to be with you by invitation at this time.

"Each year your comrades are passing, and but a remnant of that invincible army of 100,000 soldiers, who fought the battles of that war and carried the 'Stars and Stripes' triumphantly into the city of Mexico, survive. Of the more than 5,000 who enlisted from Ohio but eighty-three reside in our state at this time, as shown by the pension roll, and but 231 widows survive. You are all on borrowed time ranging in years from the youngest, seventy nine years of age to ninety-two. Some of you are still hale and hearty and you are the heroes of two wars with titles of distinguished service well earned."

After telling of his early recollections of the Mexican war, Colonel Curry continued:

"According to the records of the war department, the total enlistment for the war was 101,282. Of that number 7,006 were regulars and the others volunteers. Those killed in battle were 1,557. Those wounded were 4,102. The proportion of wounded to those killed was not as great as usual in our wars, as the number generally averages about four wounded to one killed.

Ohio's Contribution.

Ohio contributed six full regiments and fifteen independent companies, a total enlistment of 3,538 soldiers in the regular service, and many in the regular service. The losses from Ohio were 393, or a total of about eleven per cent of the troops enlisted, [illegible] by the records of the death [illegible]

[illegible] grand army led by the hero [illegible] many battles, General Scott, [illegible] and other distinguished gen[illegible] while the losses were not [illegible] as in other wars, yet the [illegible] momentous. Then hail the [illegible] Buena Vista, Palo Alto, [illegible] and of other battlefields [illegible] so gallantly under old "Rough and Ready"—General Zachary [illegible] who when a demand was made [illegible] render of his army replied: "I beg leave to [illegible]"

Colonel Curry read a poem by Theodore O'Hara, a Mexican war heroes of which he declared was appropriate to the Ohio [illegible]

Mr. Harding Speaks.

Mr. Harding was introduced by Mayor Seiter, and gave the next address, referred to the remarkable development of the United States. He spoke of the causes of the war, the time of the revolution-ary war, the fathers were not so anxious to secure national liberty as they were to throw off the yoke of British oppression, and at the time of the civil war the soldiers died not to abolish slavery, although that would have been sufficient cause, but for the preservation of the nation. The Spanish-American war and the Mexican war were largely in fulfillment of a national destiny.

Rev. Mr. Currin Speaks.

Rev. J. P. Currin, pastor of the First Baptist church, gave a short talk, in which he emphasized the fact that the men gathered at the reunion are specimens of the survival of the fittest. He was heard with close attention.

A short talk was made by Dr. James Cutler, of Richwood, after which Dr. D. W. Henderson spoke at some length and thanked the local people for the attention given the veterans at their reunion here. He stated that some people wonder why the veterans want to gather in reunion so often, and explained the matter by the fact that men who have marched and fought, side by side, have a feeling toward each other that the person who has never engaged in a battle can never understand. He spoke of the Mexican war, and declared that one of the results of the conflict was the acquirement of the great territory of land in the Southwest greater than the original thirteen colonies. The men who took part in the civil war were trained at this time and a last great result of the war was the opening of a great commercial life for the nation.

After a musical selection, Rev. J. P. Currin pronounced the benediction, after which the veterans retired to the Cooper post rooms to look after some unfinished business relative to the next meeting.

Following the short business session in the Cooper Post room at the courthouse, the veterans adjourned and left for their respective homes.

ALLEGES INTERESTS CONTROL BUSINESS

Petition Asks That Property Be Confiscated.

Major Declares Big Firms Seek To Prevent Lawful Trade and Free Competition—He Wants Them To Forfeit Franchises Granted by the State—Asks That a Fine Be Assessed Against Companies Also

Jefferson City Mo June 20—Quo warranto proceedings seeking to oust the beef trust from the state of Missouri were filed with the state supreme court today by Attorney General Major

Five separate suits were filed one each against the Swift Morris and Armour companies the other against the Hammond Packing company and the St Louis Dressed Beef & Provision company

The petitions filed by Attorney General Majors allege that the Hammond Packing company the St Louis Dressed Beef & Provision company and the Swift and Armour companies through connection with the National Packing company of New Jersey sought to monopolize business to restrain and prevent lawful trade and free competition and it is alleged that the companies forfeit their franchises and privileges granted by the state that they be excluded from doing business in the state and that their property be confiscated and a fine assessed

The petition says that up to September 1 1909 the companies were engaged in free and open competition, but that at this time contriving unlawfully to monopolize the business in which they were engaged and to destroy trade and prevent lawful trade in part and free competition among themselves and others to regulate buy and maintain prices and the amount and quality of the produce manufactured and sold did with others formally create and become members of and participate with others in the unlawful proceeding of organizing the National Packing company a $1 000 000 corporation as a holding corporation to acquire the stock and assets of all packing companies of the United States

The petition then alleges that it was intended that all packing companies should be operated under one management through the National Packing company and prices be thus controlled

The chief stockholders in the Hammond company named by the attorney general are the Armours Swifts and Morris company

According to evidence given to Attorney General Major the St Louis Dressed Beef company is owned entirely by the National Packing company

DREAD DROUTH IN MINNESOTA

Farmers Apprehensive Over Small Rainfall

CROP CONDITIONS AROUSE COUNTRY

Bleaching Sun Scorching the Grain Fields

Unless There Is a Let-Up Within Next Twenty Four Hours Fully Fifty Per Cent of the Crops in Northwest North Dakota and Eastern Montana Will Be Damaged Beyond Recovery

Minneapolis Minn June 21—One of the most serious droughts in the history of the weather bureau has been experienced in the corn and wheat belt in Minnesota and North and South Dakota this summer

Since March 1 the precipitation in the principal points has varied from thirty one to fifty seven per cent of the normal

With but one exception the rainfall during this period has shown a great deficiency over the precipitation record for 1900 when the last serious drouth occurred in the corn and wheat belt

With the small percentage of rainfall come the hundred of extremely high temperature As a result the ground today is said to be practically parched and the farmers are very apprehensive

All of the week in country was aroused by crop conditions and moderate grain buying orders were sent in but the climax was reached yesterday when it was learned that the commission houses in the three states affected bought over a million bushels of wheat at the opening

Minn North Dakota will unless there is a strong wind and rain bringing sun and temperature of 105 to 110 within the next seven or four hours fully fifty per cent of the crops in northwest North Dakota and eastern Montana will be damaged beyond all possible recovery The temperature registered at the weather bureau here today was 110 degrees

TAFT IS ANGRY CLEAR THROUGH

He Wants Satisfactory Postal Savings Bill

THE FIRST GLIMPSE OF THE BIG STICK

President Cancels New Haven Trip To Fight

Taft Declares He Is Ready To Stay in Washington All Summer in Order To Make Certain That Postal Bill Is Passed—Bailey Changes Attitude Somewhat—Mrs Taft Remains Home Also

Washington June 21—The first glimpse of the big stick which Roosevelt has been since March 4 1909 came today when President Taft cancelled his New Haven trip and declared he was here to stay as long as necessary to achieve a satisfactory postal savings bank bill

His announcement is apt to precipitate a big fight as the insurgents and Democrats in the senate evidently have solemnly set out to force changes in the house bill which the president demands the senate accept without amendment

The president is angry clear through After he had paved the way for the senate to accept the house bill and had been assured that the measure would go through without a hitch he feels indignant because several senators have refused to fulfill this program The executive it is understood declared today he was ready to stay here all summer in order to make certain that the postal bill passed The Democrats and the insurgents in the senate say the senate worked over a bill perfected it, and adopted it and that it is not within reason to ask them now to adopt as a substitute a measure entirely different They say they are in no way bound by any promises that may have been made to the president by the regular Republicans

Taft Feels Pledged

The president believes the senate measure is a special privilege bill He also feels pledged to stand by the house bill because of the fact that a number of house insurgents went so far as to caucus on the bill and departed from their insurgency enough to take the unprecedented step of voting for the rules by which it was passed in the house The president feels that he ought to stand by these men

The information that a number of senators had planned a filibuster against the measure came to the president last night He sat up until late reviewing the situation and went to his office today determined to fight If the measure goes to conference he believes that an attempt will be made to write in special privilege legislation but he has been assured that the house will not adopt any such measure

Senator Bailey Democrat of Texas who yesterday declared he was ready to filibuster against the bill to increase the efficiency of the engineer corps was in conference with the president today When he emerged there was a let up to his belligerence

They will either have to abandon that bill or they will be here through August he shouted over his shoulder to the newspapermen

Mrs Taft also cancelled her contemplated trip to New Haven and will remain here with the president for the present

BUCKEYE BRIEFS

Columbus O June 21 — Is Ohio doomed by race suicide? With the population increasing the birth rate is decreasing This rather startling fact was developed by the bureau of vital statistics when the births in Cleveland Columbus and Cincinnati for January and April of 1909 and 1910 were compared Heavy gains in population were made during 1909 and 1910 but the birth rate shows a loss

In Cleveland January 1909 there were 1 261 births The corresponding month in 1910 here were 1 15[illegible] a decrease of 107 The April birth rate for 1910 was 1 049 a decrease of 108 from January of this same year

Cincinnati shows evidence that the doom of France is stretching its cloud over Ohio In April 1909 there were 7[illegible]0 births In April 1910 there were only 98 a startling decrease of 21 In January 1910 there were 662 births while in April there were only 5[illegible] a decrease of 104 And this in the face of a heavy increase in the city's population

CONGRESS IS VERY LIBERAL

Appropriations Largest in History of Country.

A LARGE INCREASE IN EXPENDITURES

This Is Due to the Two Big Pork Barrels.

Public Buildings Bill Passes, Carrying $20 000 000—Millions Are Distributed Among the Hungry Statesmen—Congress Saves on Some Matters and Increases Allowances on Others

Washington June 21—Appropriations made by congress at this session are the largest in the history of the country reaching $1 080 000 000 as compared with $1 011 000 000 last year

After a hot days work the house remained in session until 1 o'clock this morning when amid noisy scenes the public buildings bill carrying $20 000 000 was passed with only five Democratic votes recorded against it They were cast by Sims of Tennessee Sulzer of New York Fitzgerald of New York Smith of Illinois and Ferris of Indiana

The increase of nearly $40 000 000 in the expenditures this year is due to the fact that two great pork barrels of legislation were distributed among the hungry states men They were the rivers and harbors bill and the public building bills In the past it has been customary to open these every alternate years but this year the congressmen wanted a feast of all that the legislative table afforded The rivers and harbors bill carrying about $50 000 000 has been awaiting the presidents signature for some time It has been reported that he has thus far refrained from signing it to see how congress acted in the closing days

There has been a saving this year of about $20 000 000 in ordinary appropriations but owing to the opening of the two pork barrels the same year the grand total of the appropriations is unprecedented

New York June 21—Theodore Roosevelt Jr was married to Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander the daughter of Mrs Henry Addison Alexander of 4[illegible] West Forty seventh street Long before the hour set for the ceremony the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church was more than comfortably filled by the early arrivals among the 800 invited guests and Fifth avenue for two blocks north and south of the church and along Fifty fifth street was crowded with people who seemed at least the women who formed the majority equally divided between the desire to get a glimpse of the bride and a look at Colonel Roosevelt In the interest over these two the bridegroom was almost forgotten and few saw him when he arrived at the church an hour before the ceremony

Just at the last minute Colonel Roosevelt remembered that his former regiment of Rough Riders was in town and that they hadn't been invited That wouldn't do at all at all and at no time at all Keith D Robinson was hurried around to the Rough Rider headquarters at the Hotel Buckingham to tell the boys to jump into their uniforms and come along There was a mighty scurrying about for uniforms and strenuous efforts to round up the missing but nearly 0 of the men managed to get together and marching two abreast reached the church in time to add a military touch to the wedding

"Curiosity" asks the Star for the quotation on which Mr. Harding based his remarks at the commencement of St. Mary's school. The speaker did not assume to quote exactly, but the quotation is essentially as follows:

"Men are four: He who knows not, and knows not that he knows not, pity him; he who knows not, and knows that he knows not, let him hope; he who knows and knows not that he knows, awaken him; he who knows and knows that he knows, put reliance in him."

RICHLAND TOWNSHIP LAND IS VERY CHEAP

According to Assessor It's Worth Only $30 an Acre.

Richland township land, with all the buildings on it, is worth only a tride over $30 an acre, according to the report filed by Assessor C. F. Groll with County Auditor Charles Allen, Monday afternoon. He places a total valuation of $515,840 on all real property, an increase of only $16,360 over that of last year.

Auditor Allen states that the valuation, under the new law, will not provide sufficient taxes to run the township's expenses.

I. C. Dickson, of Tully township, who also filed his report as assessor of that township, Monday, places a total valuation on land and buildings at $559,610, an increase over last year of $180,080, or an average of about $12 an acre. This is $12 to the acre more than that on land in Richland township.

BREAKERS ARE AHEAD FOR THE ASSESSORS

Some of Them Are More or Less Troubled.

THREAT THAT SOME MAY SUFFER FINES

Those Who Neglect To Appraise Property at Its Cash Value Are Liable To Be Fined $200 for Each Offense—A Possibility of Grand Jury Action Is Talked.

Breakers are still ahead for the county—that is for those who have refused to follow the instructions of County Auditor Charles L. Allen and assess all real property at its full value in money as provided by the constitution of the state.

Assessors who have failed to do their work properly, are liable to heavy fines. The law prescribes a minimum fine of $200 for each instance of dereliction of duty. For example, each property improperly appraised makes the assessor liable for a separate fine.

The recent threat of a member of the Marion board of assessors to call the grand jury's attention to certain appraisements may yet be carried out, it is said upon reliable authority, but not by the quadrennial assessor who made the threat.

That a number of the real estate assessors of the county have been derelict in their duty is alleged, as their reports made to the auditor will show that they have not appraised property at its full value in money. On the other hand, it is claimed that considerable property, not only in the rural districts, but in this city, has been improperly appraised. Many of the assessors are worried.

The Marion board of assessors is now busy in an effort to have printed in pamphlet form a list showing all the real estate owners in each ward, together with the street numbers, feet frontage and valuation made by it, a copy of which must be mailed to every property owner. In townships and villages the auditor will have pamphlets printed. These pamphlets will give a list of the real estate in the township or village, together with the lot number, township, range, survey, acreage and valuation.

The expense of printing all pamphlets will be paid out of the county treasury.

HARDIN COUNTY MAN KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Body of George Pfeiffer Is Found Under Elm Tree.

LaRue, O., June 24.—[Special.]—During one of the heavy electrical storms that passed over this vicinity, Monday afternoon, George Pfeiffer, of Hepburn, was struck by lightning while at work on the farm of F. J. Lanbis, one half mile west of Hepburn, and, it is supposed, instantly killed.

The unfortunate man was found under a large elm tree, under which he evidently sought shelter from the storm. It is not known at what time he was killed, but a watch found on the corpse had stopped at 6:55 o'clock.

The deceased was well known in this county. He is survived by a widow and two children.

Club Property Purchased.

A committee of stockholders of the Commercial Club company recently purchased the club property at receiver's sale, and plans are under way for a reorganization. A meeting was held for that purpose, Monday evening, but the representation was not sufficient to justify completion of an organization.

THE CHAUTAUQUA IS ONLY A MONTH AWAY

The Great Week Opens in Marion on July 25.

NO OTHER OFFERS SUCH ATTRACTIONS

A Three Thousand Dollar Program Is Offered the Marion County Public at One Dollar and a Half for the Entire Week, Forty Attractions in All—What They Are.

The Marion County Chautauqua is only five weeks away. The big event—the week of weeks—will open on Monday afternoon, July 25, at the fairgrounds. Assemblies will be held in a big tent, which will be comfortably seated, and accommodate 2,000 people. The management has been looking after details to provide physical comfort at the grounds. Lunch facilities will be ample, a dining hall will be conducted by the ladies of the Central Christian church, tenting facilities will be provided for those who choose to make Chautauqua week an outing and vacation, and there will be ample street car service at all sessions.

The officers of the Chautauqua association declare the Marion program is the best and most costly given in a single week's offering in the entire country. The talent alone costs about $3,000 for the week, and the entire offering of twelve concerts, two recitals, twelve lectures, two entertainments, besides five morning study lectures and recitals, and seven motion-picture offerings, costs but $1.50 to those who buy season tickets in advance. All in all there are forty separate offerings at less than four cents each to the season ticket buyer. These tickets, selling at $1.50 now, will sell at $2.00 on and after opening day, and single admissions will cost thirty-five to fifty cents each. The management recommends the purchase of season tickets, because the Chautauqua is not held to make money, but to do the greatest good and give the greatest help and pleasure to the greatest number.

Every person should get the Chautauqua folder and know the detailed program. The musical attractions, given as one-hour preludes to every afternoon and evening session, are Baker's Concert band on opening day, the great Chicago Glee club, the Lotus Glee club and the Weber male quartet. Every one of these contributors is sufficient for a whole program in itself, but is only a part of the extraordinary afternoon and evening offerings.

The lecturers are the most eminent on the platform—Governor Glenn, of North Carolina; Senator Dolliver, of Iowa; John Temple Graves, of New York and Atlanta; Rev. Father John Daly, of Milwaukee; Colonel Robert Seeds, of Pennsylvania; inimitable Opie Read, of Illinois; Higo S. Inui, of Japan; Dr. Ora Samuel Gray, of Massachusetts; Dr. W. L. Davidson, of Ohio; Professor Paul Martin Pearson, of Pennsylvania; Professor J. E. Woodland, of New York; Mrs. LaSalle Corbett Pickett, child-wife of the late Confederacy, and Maud Ballington Booth, "little mother of the prisons."

There will be two novel entertainments by Nicola, the great magician, and Noah Beilharz, the great impersonator, and the two prelude readings by Mollie Jane Reed, of New York.

It is an offering of surpassing excellence, and all of Marion county will wish to hear and see. The sale of season tickets is limited to 2,000, this $1.50 price prevails until opening day only. This special low figure is made possible by the guarantee purchase of blocks of tickets by Marion business men which guarantee made the engagement of the talent possible.

FORMAL OPENING OF THE HABERMAN STORE

Beautiful Business House Visited by Hundreds

SHOWS ENTERPRISE OF THE COMPANY

One of the Finest and Best-Equipped Hardware Stores in the State, Is the Verdict of the People Who Visit It—Rose Bush Souvenirs Are Given to the Visitors

Magnificently appointed throughout and spacious in every department the handsome new store of the Haberman Hardware company was formally opened to the public Thursday night The opening hours were from 6 30 to 10 and during that time people constantly streamed through the big store located at No 140 North Main street

The opening was a memorable event in Marion mercantile circles It was attended by so many hundreds that those who attempted to keep a count of the visitors gave up in despair It was an admiring crowd from the time the doors opened until they closed and many complimentary things were said to the Messrs Haberman

The big show windows were illuminated One of them contained an airship, that attracted the eyes of happy youth and the other was filled with pennants of all kinds

Dressed in its best bib and tucker the mammoth store was decidedly pleasing to the eye Few if any hardware stores in Ohio eclipse it in one single feature It is a store of which all Marion may well feel proud because of the advantages it offers

One of the noticeable features of the big store is found in the wonderful oak shelving and boxes where in each article is shown by itself and one can tell at a glance whether that is the article desired Hardware tools of many varieties are displayed in the great wall cases which are not very often seen in cities the size of Marion

The Haberman Hardware company's store shows that the company has kept abreast with the times It is a brand new store but the firm is an old and established one, the senior member Frederick Haberman having been identified with the hardware business in Marion for many years

Throughout the evening an Edison Amberola orchestra rendered music from its position in the balcony in the rear part of the store The store was artistically decorated with flowers and flags

A small rose bush of choice variety was given to every adult visitor instead of the customary carnation

The formal opening was a big success

LITTLE CUPID HALTS WHEELS OF JUSTICE

Bold Youngster Takes Possession of the Court

IS ACCOMPANIED BY FAIR YOUNG WOMAN

The Latter Wants To See the Judge and To See Him Privately—Conducted into the Judge's Room She States the Object of Her Visit Soon the Wheels Grind Again

Cold little Cupid bolted into the courthouse Friday and halted the slow grinding wheels of justice

The fabled god was perched on the shoulder of a very nice looking young woman who first put in her appearance at the big building Thursday afternoon She asked County Clerk W W Kinteiler if she could see Judge William I Scofield I have some very important business and I would like to see him very much she said

The clerk informed her that if she would return Friday morning at 9 o'clock she probably could find the judge

Friday morning the young woman returned But he was in hour before Judge Scofield was busy in the case of John Ormiston who was being tried on a burglary charge The young woman said that her business was pressing

With that smile of gladness so characteristic of him Judge Scofield left the bench and drew aside with the young woman I want to tell to you in private said she

Then we'll go into the judge's private office Judge Scofield replied and ushered the well dressed woman into the courtroom and across the corridor to the northwest corner room on the third floor

The young woman beamed upon the judge She was very happy apparently After the had entered the judge's private office Judge Scofield silently ordered his unknown visitor a chair and she sat down

Now madam what can I do for you? asked the judge that fascinating smile still twinkling about his eyes He laughed almost outright when he caught her answer

Well judge I want to get a marriage license

The judge said he was sorry that he could not accommodate her and directed her to the probate court He then returned to the bench and he wheels of justice resumed their grind

THERE'S LIABLE TO BE A SHORTAGE OF FUNDS

New Tax Law Is Not a Revenue Producer,

UNDER APPRAISEMENTS MADE IN THE COUNTY

In One Township the Returns on the New Valuation and Under the New Rate Are Only About One-Half What They Were Last Year—Two Assessors Report

An idea of what effect the new one and one half per cent taxation law will have on the taxpayers of Marion county is given in the first two reports filed Saturday in the office of County Auditor Chas I Allen by Assessors Milton J Morral of Grand Prairie township and Willis Clark, of Pleasant

In spite of the efforts of the county auditor to induce the township assessors to assess property at its full value in money Assessor Morral's report shows that all land in Grand Prairie township including buildings is valued on an average of little more than $10 an acre It places the total valuation of all realty in the township at a total of $606 848 an increase of $171 018 over the valuation returned in 1909

Under the new one and one-half per cent law this valuation will raise a total tax of $10276 The amount of tax it has for last year's valuation of $4[illegible] under the operation of the four per cent law was $17 190 or $[illegible] more than this year with a valuation of $606 848

If the other township assessors follow Mr Morral method of fixing valuations the tax will fall on personal property as well be materially low about as much as raised from the realty last year

Assessor Clark of Pleasant assessed property at its full value in money His report show that he increased the old valuation over twice as much as in 1909 yet the total amount of taxes raised will be less than last year

Mr Clark returns a total valuation of $[illegible] which will produce a total tax of $[illegible] under the operation of the one half per cent limit Under the four per cent limit last year on a total valuation of $1 6 590 the tax produced was $[illegible] or $[illegible] more than this year

From Assessor Clark's report it is shown that although he appraised all property at what it would bring the full valuation in the township this years valuation shows [illegible] more than last [illegible] him in 1909

About half of Clark's mower [illegible] new machine declined [illegible] to sow [illegible] seed did [illegible] into the earth to receive [illegible] seed which [illegible] covered by a following roller

CLOSELY APPROACHING THE GARB OF NATURE

Are the Costumes of Three Local Youngsters,

WHO RUN ON ERRAND FOR MAMA OF TWO

Start Down Town in Indian Costumes, When Some Man Tells Them They Will Be Arrested and Put into Jail If They Retain Their Indian Costumes.

Wearing nothing but their underwear, and carrying bundles under their arms, three small lads caused considerable comment, one day last week, when they appeared in the down-town district thus scantily dressed. Had they been grown-ups their appearance would have caused a great shock, but because of their tender age and innocence, there was only amusement for those who saw them.

Mrs. Theodore H Hughes, of No 604 north Main street, despatched her six-year-old twin sons, Dale and Merle, down town on an errand They were accompanied by Matthew, eight-year-old son of Mr and Mrs John T McKinstry, of No 649 north Main street When they started the boys were rigged out in Indian suits, with feather headgear, and all

The youngsters trotted along, until a mean man stopped them. He told the boys that if they went "down town like that" all of them would be arrested and placed in jail It might have been a harmless joke, but the boys were frightened

The Hughes twins declared they had to go to the grocery for mama, so it was finally decided that the three of them should remove their Indian rigging and go the rest of the way to the grocery in their underwear, and that of one lad was decidedly abbreviated And they did Each carried his Indian clothes under his arm in a bundle. When the boys got home, they told their mothers all about how they fooled the eagle-eyed police.

Several days later they were caught. The jury sympathized with Fornwalt because of his youth and found him guilty of a lesser crime and the Astons of first degree murder

THE UHLER-PHILLIPS EMPLOYES PICNICK

Is a Most Decided Success Despite the Storm,

WHICH SWEEPS CITY MONDAY AFTERNOON

It Had Been Intended To Hold the Picnic at Lincoln Park, but the Plan Is Changed and the Entertainment Held on the Second Floor of the Store.

Despite the storm of Monday afternoon the annual picnic of the employes of the Uhler-Phillips company was a decided success The outing had been planned for Lincoln park and the bright sunshine of the morning indicated that the day would be an ideal one, but about 2 o'clock the clouds began to gather, and almost before one was aware of an approaching storm, the rain began to descend in torrents The heavy electrical storm put a stop to the picnic plans so far as the park was concerned.

Consultations were held, and it was decided to vacate the second floor and transform it into a picnic ground Such signs as "Keep Off the Grass and "Don't Tease the Bears, Elephants and other Wild Animals," were hung on the walls, each signed with the park superintendent's name Everything possible was done to alleviate any possible disappointment of the employes

About 6 30 o'clock, a large table, laddened with the many good things that are essential at a picnic spread temptingly invited the hungry company. The menu was served buffet style.

After every vestige had been cleared away, a phonograph was forthcoming, and to its music dancing was enjoyed until late in the evening Those not caring to dance, played old-fashioned games In every way, the picnic was a gala affair, and was enjoyed by a company of about sixty

Mrs Turney Clark, of Cleveland, Mrs. Chauncey Bohanan, of Ada, Mrs Fred Peters and Miss Iva Wingett, formerly clerks at the store also enjoyed the pleasures of the evening

AND WHAT ABOUT THE HYPOCRITE

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for June 26 is, "The Parable of the Tares" Matthew 13:24-30; 36-43.

There are hypocrites. Plenty of them. The world abounds in hypocrites—hypocrite butterflies, hypocrite bugs, hypocrite worms, hypocrite birds, hypocrite reptiles, hypocrite beasts. Nor has the realm of lower life a monopoly; there are hypocrite statesmen, hypocrite business men hypocrite lawyers; hypocrite doctors, hypocrite editors, hypocrite authors, hypocrite Christians—all pretending to be what they are not There are even hypocrite sinners, persons pretending to be worse than they are. So long as human sight and understanding continue poor, hypocrisy will remain a factor in life It may as well be admitted as such and dealt with frankly.

No Hypocrite Worries.

Some folk are troubled over this question of hypocrites. There always have been such anxious ones. People outside the church profess to be very much concerned over the hypocrites who wear the cloak of religion—although often, it may be feared, this attitude itself is hypocritical. That many church members are church members for appearance's sake is probably true, although the evidence would be hard for mortal to collect That may be true, is a source of worry and weakness to the church. Perhaps after all it should not be worried about.

There is a pointed story told by Jesus on this subject, and the application of it seems to be that hypocrites should not be fretted over by the servants of the kingdom Indeed, there is no need for anybody to worry about the hypocrites Some tender consciences are disturbed lest they should belong in this category No one who is so troubled is in any danger of hypocrisy. Those who are afraid of being hypocrites have the best need of being afraid Hereon we is like the "unpardonable sin" No one who is concerned over it may danger from it One may be a weak, bungling Christian, but is a far different matter from a hypocrite. The hypocrite is who deliberately serves the in the guise of a friend. He needly making use of the outappearance of religion in order his own base purposes

The Wheat and the Tares.

Jesus' teaching, Jesus put in form "The kingdom of is likened unto the man who good seed in his field but men slept, his enemy came and tares also among the wheat it away But when the blade up and brought forth fruit appeared the tares also And servants of the household came said unto him' Sir, didst thou not good seed in thy field' then, hath it tares' And he unto them, An enemy hath this And the servants said him, Wilt thou then that we go ther them up' And he said st haply while ye gather up es, ye root up the wheat with Let both grow together until harvest, and in the time of the I will say first to the reapers, ap first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn"

Worrying Over Lord's Business.

In this graphic story which is the clearest picture of hypocrites drawn by Jesus, we find old Satan at his planting Some people would eliminate the devil, but that does not get rid of his work No man who knows very much about real life holds pretty little theories which have no place for old Satan. If anybody's faith in the existence of the devil needs strengthening, he has but to read the daily newspaper If there he does not find him, he will find that soar other power which might as well bear his name is doing diabolish work in the world All good must reckon with evil The boy or girl who is sent out into life without knowledge of this darker side of existence is unarmed for a real conflict Let us face the fact of active, ceaseless, and ingenious labor by the forces of sin.

The subtlety of the enemy in the story consisted in the fact that the tares, or darnel, as they are called, look quite like wheat at the beginning It is not until the wheat begins to ripen that the darnel shows its true nature There is an optimistic note in the point that the tares were sown in the grain field, and not the grain in the field of tares The good predominates, despite the existence of the bad Life is not all ill While it is unwise to ignore the malign, it is greater unwisdom to think only the things that are evil The distrustful, suspicious person, who regards his fellow beings with an eye that attributes to them the worst is just about the unhappiest mortal that encumbers this old earth.

The Test of Harvest.

An impatient host of high-minded people want to reform the world over night They have a detailed program for making over the human race and they want it all put into operation at once They overlook the many thousands of years during which man has been on the upgrade Their motto is "Do it now" They would legislate the old Adam out of human nature In his eyes and all the fussy servants of the householder in the parable

But God has more patience He knows how to wait There are few more interesting studies in the field of theology than the patience of God Why has He waited so long and endured so much? Why has he let man come to his present state which is none too high, by slow degrees? Why not enact a star of society wherein all men would be at the angles? Somehow we know that it belongs to the God in me to be strong and to be patient A child wants what he wants when he wants it A mature person can wait and work through the years for a coveted prize Said a faithful self-examination, having in mind his own wandering son "I am up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" when he is young he may wander, but he will come back when he is old"

"He that believeth shall not make haste" It is a part of the sense of judgment to take the long view for consideration Young people wonder that political managers should be planning two and three years ahead for presidential campaign Already the newspapers of the United States are full of conjecture concerning the candidates for 1912 The long look is the mark of the sage and the wise He will be coming one day That is the comfort of all who seek the world's good The grain is bound to the garner and the tares for the fire The tares know that they are tares, so does the Lord of the harvest So what is the use of worrying about hypocrites in the church?

The Proof at the End.

Gaunt-eyed reformers in their zeal to remedy age-long ills overnight. The sad fact about reform movements is that they usually have to be done all over again Not that such effort has not a place in life, but it is not the normal place The Sunday-school way is the better way, keep on cultivating the wheat, don't worry about the tares, they are God's business Seek the good and do not fret overmuch about the bad A constructive program of life and labor has the support of this parable, and of all the accumulated wisdom of the race. It is better for a person to express his powers positively, as by teaching a Sunday-school class that lasts through the years rather than to spend himself in hypocritical denunciations of evil

The end proves all It is rather unfashionable in these days to talk about the conclusion of the whole matter On modern cocksure state of mind, which conveniently forgets its wild guesses about the comet's tail and the million lesser matters is certain that all the questions of eternity are settled here on this little sphere called the earth A few question this self-confident attitude The older faith of a judgment day when accounts are evenly balanced is surely more reasonable, as the parable points out Kipling is reported to have said one time There is somebody Somebody somewhere Who gives us our luck sometimes

The Inevitable Reaping.

The field of the wheat and the darnel points forward to the inevitable harvest The grain can not escape the garner None of God's own fall out of His hand And the tares can not escape destruction There may be tares in the church but there are none in heaven The evil old struggle between the contending forces of light and darkness on this earth is going to be ended some day Then there will be no doubt as to which side one is on

In the terrible picture painted by the Master Himself it is set forth that the Son of man shall send forth His angels and they shall gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and them that do iniquity, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire there shall be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father Let us be on the side of the harvest and not of the tares.

Very few of the big town houses are kept open from a social standpoint—after the first of May while families stay in at Lenox, Tuxedo and Lenox Long Island as soon as the weather permits. There is a special charm about the out of town wedding in summer that and now that the Harriman Rumsey [illegible] way during the latter part of last week many other fashionable weddings are set to take place out of town this season.
